

Upcycled Materials

Courtesy of Weitzner Limited

The process of Up to Date. Small strips of a magazine are woven to create this stunning creation.

One up-and-coming trend our editors spotted at market was upcycling, or repurposing old materials and transforming them into something new. One item that particularly caught our attention was Weitzner Limited's wallcovering, called Up to Date.

Recycled magazine strips were thoughtfully woven together to create an eye-catching design that expressed what some call a "Chanel-like quality," according to designer Lori Weitzner. We cannot wait to see this trend develop further in the months and years to come. Not to mention, we're all for repurposing, reusing and recycling—especially when it creates something this beautiful!